Improved access to quality prostate cancer care can be achieved through the implementation of the National Cancer Control Programme. To improve prostate cancer services and outcomes in Malaysia through setting up a national network of regional and referral prostate cancer care centres. A four-month study was carried out from October 2014 until January 2015 to establish a network of seven centers for urological cancer care, a task force and support systems in the seven states/territories. These centers will provide services to men with prostate cancer. The seven-state prostate cancer network consists of 10 centers of urology and five regional coordinating centers. An early-diagnosis team (at each site) is responsible for the provision of prostate cancer services. These team members provide services through routine investigations, such as, serum prostate-specific antigen and radiology, which are performed at each site. The results of the prostate cancer-specific prostate-specific antigen test for a patient at the peripheral site are reported and verified by the coordinating centre for the state/territory where the patient resides. Specialized services are delivered at the coordinating centers, through the GUM physicians, radiologists and urologists, and include robotic prostatectomy and brachytherapy. The setting up of a national network of prostate
